The annual reception and levee to the Citizens' Corps of Post No. 46, Baltimore, was held on Dec. 13, more than a thousand guests being present. A very interesting program of music, recitations, etc. was rendered, in addition to a one-act farce, entitled "A Nice Quiet Day." MASSACHUSETTS.-J. J. Wyeth, Sharon: On Nov. 20, "G.A.R. Outpost 94" held its first anniversary. As both our

title and object probably are not within the knowledge of many of the readers of THE NATIONAL TRIBUNE, I think a sketch of our camp and tucties would be interesting. Our camp is pitched with Posts to the right of us, Posts to the left of us and Posts all around us, but nary a Post have we, ours (Revere Post, id.) being four miles away. Most of us were 18 years or more in 1961, and fully capable to bear arms then, but now we are getting into the sear and yellow stage, which makes it hard work to tend up at all the roll-calls in our Post. So a year ago we instituted this Outpost, or Picket Camp. We think it the only one in the country, and would like to be informed if we are in error. We only admit as members those who are in the G.A.R. Our rooms are open three nights in the week, and all old veterans as visitors receive a cordial welcome. Our officers are President, Vice-President, and Secretary, who is also Treasurer. We have 14 members. Our rooms are bung with pictures, all on war subjects, many of them being photographs taken on the spot. There is a photograph of each of us framed in a large G.A.R. badge, bile under some are tin-types as they were in service. We have relies gathered from different places, such as rebel knapsack, drum-sticks, carridge-hox with cartridges, and a few exposive uilets, ashers and swords, with personal histories, three Enfield rifles, which we keep in stack to remind us of old times. Last Spring we were presented with a case by Comrade Charles M. Smith. 1st Mass. Cav., and President of the Northeast Association of Ex-Prisoners of War. This cane is made from one of the posts of the stockade at Andersonville, and was accompatited by a letter from the party who sent the stick from the prison, fully wouching for its identity. Our flag was a present from the father of a member of the 33d Mass., G. H. Gay, who lost his life at Resaca, Ga. Mr. Gay also gave us a complete set of Adjutants-General Reports of Mossachusette, and "Massachusette Rec ords of Rebelium," both valuable books of reference. Our experience is that such an organization like this can be made a success, as it not only does ell; Chap., Robert L. Montier; O. D., Samuel Ednot detract from the Post, but tends to keep up a lively interest of Praternity, Charity and Loyalty among the old veterans. Officers of Charles Russell Post, No. 7, Boston : Jomnuander, Wm. Gillespie; S. V. C., Jerominh F. Kelley; J. V. C., Thus, J. Long; Q. M., Wendell P. Surg., Sam'l B. Barstow; Chap., John L. Starratt; G. D., Edward C. Norris; O. G., B. R.

Osler, Shamokin, Pa. The Encampment will be held Feb. 11 and 12. Department Headquarters have been established at the Mausian House. Last week the anniversary of McLean Post, No. 16, Reading, was celebrated with eciat. The prin cipal address was made by Compade II. Willis Bland, who gave a historical sketch of the Post, Among the other speakers were Junior Vice Department Commander Gorrell and H. M. M. Richards. The absence of Department Commander Stewart was greatly regretted. Lees was Master of Ceremonies. The program included the singing of "Tenting on the Old Camp Ground " by the comrades, addresses by Thomas

Clark, the other participants being John Graves, Frank Moore, John Chadwick, Miss Jessie Shaw, ames Shaw, Miss Sue Rathman, Miss Beckle Wilde, Dr. Jefferies, Daviel Helms and Prof. Graves. The memorial services of Post No. 88, Allegheny City, were held on Sunday last. The oration was delivered by Department Commander Stewart. These Posts participated in the ceremonies: Nos. l, 88, 151, 155, 162, 206, 215, 230, 236 and 239. A concert and hop will be given on Thursday evening, Jan. 9, in Musical Fund Hall, Pintadel-

Col. J. B. Clark Post, No. 162, Allegheny City, was officially visited by Commander Stewart on last Friday night, and on the previous Wednesday night he visited Post No. 71, Philadelphia. Post No. 596 was mustered on Saturday evening, Dec. 14 at Potistown, by Department Commander Thomas J. Stewart. These officers were elected and installed : Commander, Wm. P. Bach; S. V. C. P. Wiley Rengan; J. V. C., John W. Arms; Q. M., George W. Rahn; Q. M. S., Joseph Spang; Adj't Isaac F. Decker; Surg., Wm. Brooke; Chap., R. J. Baldwin; O. D., Wm. H. Jones; O. G., John H. Yergey; S. M., J. P. Fredd. An elaborate banquet flowed the installation ceremony. The new Post starts out with 42 charter members. Fifteen Posts have been gained in this Department this year, an increase of four over last year. Says Commander Stewart in a circular to the Post Commanders: "We will maintain our position at the head of the column, but followed closely by those ambitious to take our place. Let me ask that you put forth a special effort to avoid the nenecessity of suspending any members at the close of the present quarter. If any are on the suspendand Louis Boyden. ed roll try to reciaim them. If they, through misfortune or sickness, are unable to pay, then let the Post be lenient and remit all or part of amount due. Will you kindly give this matter attention, and instead of 'dropping off the dead wood,' as is sometimes done, have no 'dead wood' to drop off? For all you have done let me tender you my sincere thanks, and trust that you share my desire to so advance the interests of the Department of Pennsylvania, solidly its comradeship and intensify its fraternities that the year 1889 may ever be remembered as one of grand effort and earnest work, reflecting honor upon those who, having in their keeping as Post officers the welfare of their Post, have faithfully performed their duty. The new Post hall of Post of No. 426 at Bellwood will be formally opened on Jan. 2.

The candidates for Department officers are confucting a still hunt. I have heard of but one candidate for any office-that of Department Commander. But for National Representative nearly every other delegate you meet is a candidate. The elections of Post officers in this Department have been marked by the almost universal prevaience of harmony. In a few Posts there were warm contests for the offices, but it will always be so. As far as I have been able to ascertain the general drift of sentiment among the delegates to the next Department Encampment favors the election of Comrade Joseph F. Denniston, of Post, No. 117, for the next Department Commander. Officers of Col. W. L. Curry Post, No. 18, Philadelphia; Commander, F. Wohensmith; S. V. C. David Hoffman; J. V. C., James Laycock, Q. PREPARING FOR NATIONAL CONVENTION. Boston has seen great activity in W.R.C. circles the past week. The leaders of Massachusetts W.R.C. work have held a meeting and laid their plans broad and deep for a grand welcome to the delegates to the eighth annual Convention, W.R.C. It will be a proud day for the grand workers of the old Commonwealth, who instituted our beneficent work, when the representatives of 80,000 American women gather from every State and Territory, bringing their sheaves with them. And proudly will all be welcomed.

We have information that the social arrangements will be on a stupendous scale, enabling the G.A.R. and W.R.C. to meet and mingle together on many occasions. Everywhere the greatest enthusiasm prevails, and the whole State will participate in the extensive preparations.

At the preliminary gathering at Department Headquarters, Emma B. Lowd, Department President, in the chair, the following officers were elected and committees appointed: President, E. Florence Barker; V.-P's, S. Agnes Parker, M. Susie Goodale, Mary A. Livermore, Eleanor B. Wheeler, Matilda E. Lawton, Mary M. Perry, Emily L. Ciark, Mary E. Knowles, Harriette L. Reed; Sec., Sarah E. Corps 6 numbered 31, and now we have 56 members in good standing, with the assured hope of many more joining our band. We intend that our efforts shall not slacken in the least, but be attended with renewed zeal and energy. We have formed a social. to be known as "Forty-six Social." Our object is to prepare for a fair to he held sometime during the year 1890. We meet every alternate week, at the omes of the members, to engage in fancy and plain work, all labor performed at our meetings to be donated to the cause. Several handsome quilts are

During the heated term our membership is scattered, so coming together in the Fall we gave Post 46 a fine reception. Recitations and vocal music were the order of the evening. Distinguished visitors greeted us with loud and continued applause, Among the number was our Department Inspector, Julia A. Birch; also Department Commander Geo. Wheeler and staff of officers, and members from various Corps, with a few of the fairer and sterner sex outside the garden of the F., C. and L. Rosa street, Toronto, Canada. Haine, Jennie Ross, Bessie Frye, Annie Shoemaker, Ada Cassidy, Gertie Foster, ComradesDaily, Willie Smith, Freddie Dorton and others assisted us. An address of welcome was delivered by the President of the Corps, on the great work being accomplished by the Woman's Relief Corps throughout our land, and to make casual observers feel that by giving their presence they were aiding and encouraging us in our undertakings. We had concluded to have only a literary treat, giving pleasure to the ear, and filling hearts and souls with mirth; but noble "Forty-six" proved too wily for us, and from their hands came a sumptuous repast. No. 6, W.R.C., will not rest in the arms of Morit will ever be cherished in memory.

Corps 6 was inspected Nov. 21 by Department Inspector Julia A. Birch. As the Department Corresponding Secretary is President of this Corps, silence would become her. As regards her faithful and loving band of officers, it would be unjust to them not to speak of their merits. They have ever worked nobly in the cause. They have ever sustained her in all arduous labors undertaken. Without their efficient aid success could not have crowned her efforts. Beloved Inspector, we did not look upon your visit with fear; no, not at all, but put forth smiles | Foster, South Woodbury, Vt. of welcome, only hoping that your duty would be nade a social event. Our great aim was to observe Rules and Regulations set forth as an example for guidance. We tried to work up to the letter of the aw in all respects; therefore, if errors came to hand, class them, if you will, errors of the head, not of the heart. All members, as well as officers, have been interested in behalf of the grand organiing Secretary, Baltimore.

OHIO INSPECTIONS, DEAR TRIBUNE: I had the pleasure on Oct. 30 of meeting Orrin J. Crane Relief Corps, No. 93, Cleveland, O., for the work of inspection. The disagreeable weather did not dampen the ardor of the Corn and a good attendance greated the Inspecting Officer. This Corps was formed by the division of J. B. Steedman Relief Corps, No. 39, at the time Steed-man Post divided, forming O. J. Crane Post. The first President, Susan E. Newton, having served in that capacity in Steedman Relief Corps, made an enthusiastic President for two terms, followed by Frances C. Munger, and she in turn by Addie Johnson, President. The Corps has prospered under the guidance of these officers, having at present 66 members. I was highly pleased wi the work of the Secretary and Treasurer, and the Ritual was nicely exemplified. I found there in-telligence going hand-in-hand with the desire to be perfect in work and earnest in the prosecution of the objects of our Order. I was entertained at the cosy home of Mrs. Cooley, who will be remembered as one of a charming party to California to attend the National Convention. Other ladies dined with us at Mrs. Cooley's, making a pleasant gathering. Mrs. Davies and Mrs. Whitman, Past Presideuts of the Volunteer Corps, that surrendered its charter because of lack of numbers, with Mrs. Hays, President of Memorial Corps, and others, were present at the inspection, and the spirit of kindness displayed one to another was lovely. I predict for O. J. Crane Corps much success in the future, and count my day with them as one of great pleasure.—Sarah M. E. Battels, Past Department President. ALL ALONG THE LINE. I. K. A Grand be eligible to membership in the Woman's Army fair, on a large scale, is now to be held by G.A.R., W.R.C. and S. of V.

Serg't Peiffer Corps, No. 82, Meadville, Pa., membership 37, reports a vast amount of relief work done the past year. This was the first Corps to send supplies to Johnstown sufferers, and forwarded nine boxes before the call of the Department President was issued. Cash total of relief, $260; food and clothing valued at $245. An October lime social netted $50, and a November bean bake $91. On the evening of Dec. 23 Corps 82 will present Sergeant Post with a fine flag. On this occasion the Corps will give a fine concert, when the price of admission will be food or clothing to distribute Christmas Eve to the poor of the city.

Baltz. Published by the author at Whitford, Pa. This is an exhautive study of the fight at Ball's Bluff, by a man who served as a private in the 71st Pa., which was heavily engaged in that battle. The narrative is well told, and supplemented by extended consideration of all the official reports of the disaster. The author is an enthusiastic admirer of Senator Baker, who commanded the troops engaged, and lost his life on the occasion. He pronounces this man the typical American hero of the great rebellion, and one who thoroughly comprehended the momentous issues and the terrible crimes of the conspirators. The author tries to do justice to both Baker and Stone, his superior officer, and to distribute praise fairly among them and their subordinates. He insists that Baker died like a soldier, obeying to the letter the ordering of his superior officer in one of the great blunders of the war. The recent change in the New York Ledger is very significent in that it presents for consideration the interesting question, what is the most popular periodical literature of to-day? Instead of a large paper of eight pages such as it has been in bygone years, the Ledger is now issued in a compact, elegant form of 16 pages, and instead of being filled with stories "to be continued in our next," its columns are brilliant with articles of popular interest from the pens of many of the best writers. This shows marked progress, and it is an encouraging state of affairs. There is another change in the Ledger, the object of which is not so apparent. While the quality of the paper used is more expensive than formerly, and the cost of illustrations has been greatly increased, the price of dollars a year. Is this a thrust at the cheap paper-book literature that is flooding the market? Whatever may have been the moving cause for this reduction of price, it is certainly a change that is greatly to the advantage of the
